New Oval Boosts Local Stock Car Enthusiasm

Stock car racing has enjoyed great popularity at Drayton Valley this summer following the completion of the Triple B Oval east of Rocky Rapids.

Meets have been held regularly throughout the summer with competitors coming from several widely-separated Alberta points. The meetings have also attracted large followings of race spectators.

Members of the local club are now nearing the end of the racing season and drivers and crews are looking forward to a post-season highlight -- a banquet and trophy presentation next month.

Jockeying for position, four cars careen around the first turn in a four-lap trophy event at a recent meet at the Triple B Oval.

Drivers and pitmen are introduced to the grandstand in a post parade prior to the first race.

COUNCIL SLOWS AIRPORT ACTION

Drayton Valley Town Council, in a special session last Friday morning, turned down a request by Galaxie Aviation to start hangar construction at the proposed airport site and expressed the necessity of allowing development to follow an orderly course.

Council, although sympathetic to the Galaxie desire to move ahead before freeze-up, was unanimous in its concern that D.O.T. approval should be received before any further steps are taken by the town.

Present for the meeting were Deputy Mayor R.B. Smith, and Councillors Helm, Rose, Swendseid, and Huber. Also present were Industrial Development Co-ordinator Don Vanstone and the town's legal advisor, Mr. Walder White.

Mr. Vanstone, in reviewing events to date, stated that early this year it was brought to his attention that Galaxie Aviation planned to enlarge its operations at Buck Creek and as Industrial Co-ordinator he decided to make a bid to have Galaxie move its operation to Drayton Valley.

The Industrial Development Committee, following this course, found considerable interest by representatives of the Department of Transport. Town Council then gave its approval and subsequently optioned two quarter sections and part of another north of town in order to meet D.O.T. requirements, that title to airport land be in the name of the municipality.

Total cost to the town in procuring the options amounted to $2,308.05. Ultimate cost of the land will be in the $50,000.00 range.

In the period since the town's

School Band Possibility

There may be some possibility of forming a band among the students of the High School and Junior High School. The matter is presently under discussion and parents interested in having their children play musical instruments are invited to attend an organizational meeting for the purpose of forming such a band. The meeting will be held on Thursday, October 15 and 8:00 p.m. in the Recreation Office.

Some interest in this venture of forming a school band has been evident to date. A certain amount of band equipment and supplies such as musical instruments and music books could be made available if such a band is formed. Any assistance from people with band experience would be much appreciated at this time.

Hockey Officials To Hold Meeting

A meeting of the Drayton Valley Hockey Officals will be held in the Recreation Office on Tuesday, October 20 at 7:30p.m. The meeting was announced by Charley Davies, the Referee in Chief of the local Hockey officials' organization.

The purpose of the meeting is to formulate a policy pertaining to the officiating of hockey at the local level during the 1970-71 season. All interested persons are invited to attend this meeting.

Last season a limited number of local men refereed a total of our 300 Minor Hockey games in the local program and did a most creditable job at all times. Most of the same men will be back this year to play their part in the proceedings of the Drayton

D. V. Highlights

By Mrs. Edith Deby

We wish to take this opportunity to commend Mr. Maurice McCullough for the fine job he did chairing the political meeting held in the Legion Hall on Friday night. He handled a most difficult situation with firmness and tact.

Best wishes go to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wahl, nee Crystal Durham, on the occasion of their marriage.

Mr. Art Durham bought a new car in August. At the time he was given ten "Lucky Tickets" which he filled in and promptly forgot about. One of the tickets was really lucky. Mr. Durham won another car and he and Mrs. Durham appeared on T.V. Congratulations, Mr. and Mrs. Durham.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Dorp flew to Saskatchewan ten days ago to see Mrs. Van Dorp's mother who is recovering very well after a heavy operation.

Thanksgiving visitors in the Lylle Beckett home included Miss Donna Beckett of Edmonton, Mrs. Olta Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Rowley and Shannon, all of Lloydminster. Mrs. Beckett and Mrs. Perkins are sisters.

The organizational work for 4-H got under way for the winter season under the leadership of Mr. Ken MacKenzie and Mrs. Shirley Guyon. This year will also include sheep. At the present time this is the only sheep club in the province and will be watched with a good deal of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bouschard, of Blackfalds, visited Mr. Bouschard's parents last week.

Mr. Chester Miller returned last Wednesday after a five week holiday visiting friends and relatives in various parts of B.C.

application and supporting documents were filed with the Department of Transport several meetings between town and D.O.T. officials have been held with favorable interest indicated by the federal government representatives The D.O.T. makes a thorough study of each application to determine its economic feasibility before making a decision.

The Industrial Development Committee is confident that approval of the application will be forthcoming very soon. If so, the D.O.T. will put over $100,000. into construction of a strip here capable of handling large aircraft.

The Development Committee and Council members in proceeding with the application felt that Drayton Valley could enhance its economic position by acquiring an airport of the type visualized. This theory has already been supported by interest from out-of-town sources.

While re-affirming support of the project, members of the council also expressed misgivings about letting progress move too much ahead of D.O.T. approval, in denying the Galaxie request to start hangar construction. It was pointed out that a project worth over $100,000. could not be rushed into without adequate planning.

Mr. White also recommended a slower approach to the project and noted that the town did not legally have the right to give permission to proceed with construction on the optioned property at this time.

Public Forum Held Friday

Quite a good crowd of residents were on hand in the Legion Hall Friday evening for a forum to meet electoral candidates.

All candidates had an opportunity to introduce themselves and a question and answer period followed. The meeting was chaired by Mr. Maurice McCullagh.

Unfortunately most of the candidates had little opportunity to express themselves in the exchange that occupied most of the evening, between a few persons in the audience and former mayor, Tom Johnson.

Rather than meeting candidates and hearing their views the audience heard about town affairs that would normally provide the agenda for the annual meeting of ratepayers.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harris

Couple Celebrate Golden Anniversary

On October 2, 1920, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harris were married in Lavenham, Manitoba. After the wedding they travelled to Salmon Arm, B.C. where they made their home for six years. Later they lived at Style and then for many years in the Magnolia district. Upon retiring they moved to Entwistle where they still reside.

This charming couple have two lovely daughters, Brenda and Shirley. They also have two grandsons, Larry and Eldon, and two grand daughters, Connie and Wendy.

On October 2, 1970, Brenda and Shirley were hostesses for a family reception and an open house to honor their parents, the bride and groom of fifty years. About sixty relations and close friends attended the reception while approximately three hundred folks came for the open house to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Harris, and to wish them the best in the future.

Mrs. Harris was lovely in a purple gown complimented by a yellow carnation corsage. Mr. Harris looked very dignified in a dark suit, white shirt and a yellow carnation boutonniere.

Folks arrived for this occasion from north, east, west and south, and many came long distances. Out of the district relations were: Mr. Claude Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jamieson, Delbourne; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wiess, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harris, Stettler; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ebner, Honeymoon Bay, B.C.; Mrs. Ingor Sagmeon, Prince George, B.C., and Mr. and Mrs. Gayland June of Victoria, B.C.

Golden wedding congratulations were received from Prime Minister Trudeau in a telegram; and in scrolls from Premier Strom and Lt. Governor Grant McEwan. Flowers were from the Royal Purple of Entwistle, Mrs. Starling of Entwistle and Gayland and Dorothy June.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Mrs. Inez Wiess, Lloyd Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Koehn, Mr. Oliver Siddons, Mrs. Della Storms and Betty Strangway. The wedding cake was made by Brenda Walker and decorated by Mrs. Della Storms and Mrs. Betty McDougall.

When the evening closed at ten o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Harris delighted the gathering with thank you speeches.

Everyone wishes the grand couple the very best.

Surprise Visitor "Drops-In"

The W. Medwed family, who live across the street from All Saint's Church, had a surprise visitor at 7:00 a.m. on a recent Saturday morning when a prairie chicken crashed through a window and landed on a bedroom floor.

A little shaken up following his unorthodox landing, the bird recuperated quickly and was soon walking around. The Medweds released the bird later and was last seen heading for the safety of the bush.

Left to their own devices, children will usually follow the straight and narrow. That is, the straight and narrow path across your new lawn.

EVANSBURG NEWS

Having been laid up with a little flu bug, I have missed sending in news but hope to catch-up on it now. My heartfelt get well wishes go to everyone who has happened to get the same kind of flu.

For all those little boys who are between the age of eight and ten, Wolf Cub pack meetings will begin on October 15, 7:00 p.m. at Evansview School. Anyone who becomes eight or decides to join, may do so even after the 15th. Scouts are also active again for the coming season.

Coming to entertain the residents, in which promises to be an early long, cold winter are two feature films, so our local projectionist tells me. The first of these is an Alaskan film to be shown soon.

Sympathy of the district goes to the Wright family of Niton, on the recent death of Mrs. Wright. Mr. and Mrs. Wright and their family lived in the Evansburg district before moving to Niton.

The U.C.W. ladies held a very successful rummage sale and tea recently. They wish to thank everyone for donating articles and coming in to attend the tea.

Omitted from the report on the high school graduation was the fact that Miss Cecile Fausak was presented with a $50.00 scholarship for highest marks in Math 30. This was presented by Mrs. Williams on behalf of the Catholic Women's League and the presentation was made at the graduation ceremony.

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Marshall was Mrs. M. Wilson of Parksville, B.C. Mrs. Wilson is Mr. Marshall's cousin.

Also visiting at the Marshall home as well as at the J. Otto home were Mr. and Mrs. J. Ebner of Honeymoon Bay, B.C. Mr. and Mrs. Ebner were residents of Evansburg during the "mining" days and came back to the district to attend the golden anniversary of Mrs. Ebner's uncle Mr. Harris of Entwistle.

And here's hoping all the farmers have finished their harvest as it seems this snow is here to stay.

Alberta Hail Studies Completes Another Successful Field Program

The Alberta Hail Studies field program headquarters at Penhold has now been shut down for the winter after a rather unusual hail season. The season started off normally with the first hailstorms occurring as usual at the end of May. However June was exceptionally quiet and fewer hail reports were mailed-in by farmers than in any June since 1957. The first major storm of the season occurred on 27 June and between that date and the end of July, 85 per cent of the season's total hail fell in central Alberta. Activity dropped right off again in August and was at an almost record low level.

The July storms were particularly severe and widespread with millions of dollars worth of damage inflicted on crops and property, especially in the west to east belt between Red Deer and Edmonton. July was characterized by an exceptional amount of big hailstones - nearly 30 per cent of the farmers reporting hail observed stones walnut size or larger. By comparison very little in the way of significant hail fell in the area south of Calgary.

During the summer the hail project received 1630 hail reports mailed-in by farmers. Another 1720 additional reports were obtained by telephone surveys of some of the areas hit by the more severe storms.

The Alberta Hail Studies Project is a large scale co-operative applied research program sponsored by three government agencies. After many years of basic research into the causes and behaviour of hailstorms, the knowledge so gained is now being put to good use in a series of experiments aimed at developing effective methods of hail suppression. The Research Council of Alberta plays the major role by organizing and operating the summer field program at Penhold as well as designing and evaluating the cloud seeding experiments. The National Research Council provides the weather radar facility with its unique features that make it the best in the world for studying hailstorms. The Canadian Meteorological Service supplies forecast services, personnel and equipment including the special upper-air sounding station set up at Rocky Mountain House each summer. In addition, the Meteorological Service provides a substantial grant to the Stormy Weather Group at McGill University for support of basic research by graduate students and staff. Other research groups from Saskatchewan and the United States joined the project for the month of July.

An important innovation this year was a teletype link from Penhold direct to the computing room at the Research Council in Edmonton. Data from the morning weather balloon ascents and weather maps were fed into the computer and mathematical models were used to forecast the likelihood of hail for the day. The model would then predict the storm top and severity and estimate the updrafts, liquid water content and temperature structure up through the centre of the storm.

The most significant event this past summer was the successful testing of the logistics involved in a new technique for seeding hailstorms. A T-33 jet aircraft from the National Aeronautical Establishment of the National Research Council in Ottawa was used as the seeding aircraft. It was equipped with special instrumentation including a small weather radar in the nose and a flare rack under the fuselage. The rack carried 52 cloud seeding flares which could be dropped in rapid succession as the aircraft made passes over the top of the rapidly developing part of the storm. After release, a delay fuse burnt while the flare fell about 7000 feet. The silver iodide mixture then burnt during the final 3000 feet of fall, producing trillions of tiny freezing nuclei in the critical supercooled portion of the cloud. In this way it was hoped to artificially interfere with the natural processes inside the cloud in such a way that the size and amount of hail eventually reaching the ground was reduced. The target zone inside the cloud was predicted by the computer model.

Four experiments were carried out in July. In all cases, through radio communication between the seeding aircraft and project ground control, it was possible to positively identify and seed the selected test storm. Ground mobile units were deployed downwind of the seeding area to collect rain and hail for later laboratory analysis. Radar data, cloud photography, and hail and rainfall patterns on the ground are all now being analysed to determine whether some interesting changes in the storm behaviour observed after seeding were natural or man-made.

This new approach appears to be feasible for seeding individual hailstorms, at least on an experimental basis. No firm conclusions can be reached about the effectiveness of reducing hail from the few experiments carried out in July. However, the preliminary results to date are encouraging enough that plans are already being made for an expanded series of experiments next summer.

THE ASHES ON THE FLOOR...MAY BE YOURS!

No Time for Hot Heads

Recent events in the Province of Quebec indicate in no uncertain terms that Canada has reached an unfortunate milestone in its history. Revolutionary action is out in the open and we have joined the older nations whose blood-splattered records tell the story of force being countered by force.

The kidnapping of British diplomat James Cross by Quebec terrorists, followed a few days later by the kidnapping of Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte, were tragic events for Canada. Innocent people have been seized and their lives threatened in an attempt to gain the release of other terrorists held in jail.

The terrorists call their imprisoned cohorts political prisoners. Such a belief is far from correct. They are held in jail for criminal actions, bombing and the like, and not for political beliefs. The Federal and Quebec Governments followed the only course possible in refusing their release, despite the apparent harshness in possibly leading to the death of the terrorists' prisoners.

Blackmailers cannot be bargained with. A precedent could be set that could lead to further violence, followed in turn by more kidmappings and more bargaining.

This is no time for hot heads and Canadians must solve the problem calmly. Suggestions that we attack the F.L.Q. are wrong -- we must keep our heads and endeavor to find a solution without further violence. Too much blood has already been spilled around the world in revolutions, and hopefully, Canada has learned as an observer.

Despite the fact that our instincts scream out to smash the F.L.Q. and treat them to a good dose of the type of violence they deal in -- it would be a mistake and do nothing but add to the turmoil. Instead of a few radicals, we might find ourselves in a full-blown revolution by following such a course.

The kid glove treatment, however, is out. Violence must be countered by harsh punishment and Canada must consider a review of the abolishment of the death penalty. Most of us prefer corrective measures rather than revenge for criminal actions but pre-meditated murder, slaying of police officers, kidnappings and hideous crimes against children cry out for a much greater determent than a few years in jail.

Revolving Fund for Housing

What's the matter with a revolving fund for housing, operated under CMHC, rather than the present feast or famine type of operation Ottawa has adopted for so many years? One of the objectives of the old method of seasonal injections of money used to be to promote winter works projects, by releasing more money at that time in the year. Yet surely technology and building pressure has to a large extent overcome that necessity, as well as the simple fact that it often tended to make buildings more expensive simply by delaying them into the higher cost season, rather than encouraging low cost summer construction.

Central Mortgage and Housing has been lending money for house construction for years and years, always with huge sums of money set up by the government, which covered the "needs" or the demands for a few months, until new funds were voted. Then as the monthly payments started rolling in, the government either repaid some of its indebtedness, or made the money available in other areas.

But what's wrong with the concept of setting up a revolving fund, more or less on a once-and-for-all basis? As the monthly payments came back in, they could again be loaned out, without all the upset and distress caused both to would-be homeowners and would-be house builders under the present grab-ot-while-you-can basis.

Unorthodox? Well, maybe, but not so unorthodox that the City of Camrose hasn't been doing it for years with their land fund. And surely it would simplify the job of the politicians and leave them time for other important but non-recurring matters.

--Camrose Canadian

MARSH MARAUDER

The striped skunk. This wide ranging animal is found commonly in both prairie and woodland habitat. It is an omnivorous feeder and a predator to be reckoned with in waterfowl nesting areas. It roams the uplands where dry-land nesting ducks are found and will not hesitate to enter the wet borders of marshes and even swim out to islands in search of duck eggs.

Length about two feet, including tail and weight 6 to 10 pounds.

SUB-MITS

FROM THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

The addition of a grade three classroom has somewhat relieved the heavy enrolment in that grade. However, it created another problem. The staff had to give up its only spare room available for music. Now the pianos are in the hallways. Can you imagine trying to teach a class, with another class singing in the hall? The teachers here need a solution to the problem. Do you have one? All suggestions will be considered.

Recently National School Studio Photographers visited our school. This year group pictures were taken, as well as individual ones. The individual pictures will be available before Christmas. The class pictures will arrive after Christmas. As they are quite expensive please do not feel obligated to purchase them.

The teachers of Parkland County and vicinity gathered in Drayton Valley recently for induction ceremonies and a social evening in honor of all new teachers in Alberta. Over 45 new teachers were indroduced. This was quite an impressive gathering with School Board members, A.T.A. officials and guests attending.

Included were inductees Miss Debbie Tam, Miss Karen Bolstler Miss Lesley Batten, Mrs. Sandra Day, Mrs. Anne Marie Hicks, Mrs. Lynn Sawchyn. We bid you welcome and may the satisfactions you have outweigh your frustrations.

The arrival of wintry weather complicates a perennial problem in our school. Every year we have "umpteen" numbers of "found" boots, mittens and other clothing. Often children do not or will not recognize their belongings. Would you please label all your child's belongings.

This week let's meet a grade 4 teacher, Miss Karen Bolstler. Miss Bolstler has lived all her life in Edmonton, taking all her schooling there. This is her first year in Drayton Valley. She enjoys sewing, cooking and other handicrafts too. Her winter works project for this year will be learning to ski.

From The Definitions Department -- A synonym (a word that means almost the same as another word) for scared or afraid is "chicken". And did you know that one reason people have ears is to put their glasses on. (from a grade 4 Health class).

St. Anthony's Corner

On Friday October 2nd, St. Anthony's held its annual "Frosh" Day. The purpose of this is to initiate the Grade 7 students into Junior High. The boys ended up wearing a skirt, nylons, rubber boots, bright red lipstick, and nail polish. The girls wore long johns, a tee shirt inside out, rubber boots, corked mustache, and a sign on their back which read, "I am a Frosh". The masters of the Frosh were the Grade 9 students. Everytime a Frosh met a grade 9 student they would have to kneel and say "Have mercy on me Oh mighty master for I am a lowly, crummy, sickly, ugly Frosh".

There was a Kangaroo Court which was ruled by the Grade 8. In the court the tortures included water balloons, tomatoes, spaghetti, shaving cream pie and of course traditional eggs. Punishments were handed out because of failure to dress properly or disobeying the masters command. There was a sock hop after the court. In all it was a successful day.

In intramural, blue and red are tied for first place in the boys competition. In the girls competition blue and gold are tied for first place.

Our boys school volleyball team is picked and they have practices every Monday after school and Wednesday at 7:00 at the school.

We have activities planned for the future already so you can see we are getting a good start on things.

SHORT CUTS:

Excess grease can be quickly separated from meat drippings by placing the drippings in the freezer. The grease which rises to the top can be spooned off and the remaining juices make tasty gravy.

If custard sauce separates or begins to curdle, pour mixture into a cold bowl to stop.

An eight pound turkey can be defrosted in about three hours with the low temperature oven set at 155 degrees. Defrosting the same size turkey in the refrigerator would take 28-30 hours.

Cooking lots of bacon? Try the oven method. Separate pieces and place on wire rack in baking pan. Bake without turning in a hot even (400 degrees) ten minutes or until brown.

Adjust oven temperatures 25 degrees lower when using glass baking dishes.

Salting meat before broiling draws out the juices and toughens the meat. Add salt before serving or before turning.

Frost cupcakes in half the time -- dip top of cupcake into soft frosting, twirl slightly and quickly turn right side up.

Fresh bread can be sliced thin if you heat the knife in hot water.

For better shaped muffins, grease bottoms only of muffin tins.

Spread bread with creamed butter to keep moist fillings such as chicken salad from soaking into the bread.

If something is too salty, the addition of lemon juice or vinegar will reduce the salty taste.

To prevent gummy noodles, rice, macaroni, and spagetti, add 2 teaspoons cooking oil to water before cooking.

Heat a lemon before squeezing and you will get twice the amount of juice.

To make inexpensive whipped cream, use ½ pint of half and half, 2 or 3 tablespoons of instant vanilla pudding mix, and whip.

Add 1 tablespoon of honey to a cake mix. Keeps cake from crumbling. Cakes stay fresh, longer too.

Crossbreeding Needs Management Changes

It is a fact that pressures on the present day beef cow are increasing and success in the cattle breeding business will depend on the ability of producers to rapidly adopt new management techniques, says an Alberta livestock authority.

Dr. Roy Berg, animal breeding specialist in the University of Alberta's animal science department, points out that is is no longer enough for a cow to produce a calf each year. It must be a big, healthy calf. And because of its extra size and vigor, it requires more milk and therefore there is less opportunity for the mother to store fat for winter survival.

This is a problem that any herd owner should be quick to detect and one that can easily be corrected by the use of supplemental feed in winter or even in the summer, if called for.

But what about the other demands being placed on the cow by this increased interest in more efficient beef production?

Farmers and ranchers have responded in different ways, says Dr. Berg. Some have attempted to use R.O.P. selection within their favorite breed. Some have switched to crossbreeding using long established British breeds, while others have utilized the new European breeds such as Charolais, Simmental and so on. Still others have attempted to utilize some of the larger dairy breeds in their programs.

In setting out to alter the productivity of a cow certain management adjustments are called for. Dr. Berg feels that if a breeder is going to use a crossbreeding program and is not prepared to make the necessary management adjustments, he would be better off to start with a conservative crossbred.

That is, one which does not differ too much from the initial breed in growth pattern, size and so on. For example, experience of ranchers has shown the Angus X Hereford crossbred cow to be an improvement over the Hereford. This crossbred has similar size and requirements to the Hereford and no great management changes are necessary to take advantage of her hybrid vigor.

A cross between a British breed and a larger breed such as the Charolais, results in different growth patterns and mature weights, and adjustment in management may be necessary to make the best use of such a cross. Some producers have reported difficulty in first breeding and later breeding with such a cross.

Use of large dairy breeds in a crossing program might accentuate the problem. Such a heavy milking crossbred will have to be handled differently to insure that her milk flow will be low in the first month and that she is in condition to breed early in the season and finally, so that she can survive the winter in reasonable condition to continue her function.

A similar adjustment in management must be made by those who calve heifers as 2 year olds. Not only must they be well grown through their first winter, but perhaps more critical is getting the heifer in her first lactation in proper condition to breed back and calve as a 3 year old.

Winter maintenance which provides a minimum weight loss, coupled with flushing (grain feeding 1 month prior to breeding), has proven quite successful for maintaining breeding efficiency in heifers at the University of Alberta Kinsella Ranch, Dr. Berg claims.

BUCK LAKE NEWS

Norman and Lucy Lowe and the three little fellows, Rudy, Glen and Tommy were visiting and Wilf and Madeline Prefontain for Thanksgiving weekend. Lucy and the boys stayed on for a while, but Norm had to be back at work on Tuesday.

Dates for upcoming Bridal Showers at the Buck Lake Recreation Centre are Ivan Bohning, October 13th; Patsy Wasyk and Arvid Kellgren, October 18th; Sandra McLeod and Wally Glenn, Saturday, October 24th; Judy Mills and Ken MacDonald, Thursday, November, 12th at 8:00.

Hope everyone had a lovely Thanksgiving Day on Monday.

Mrs. B.J. Bouck spent a week in Edmonton having Grays Orthopedic work done, so if the news is rather scarce, you can understand why.

Don't forget the Square Dancing at Alder Flats on Monday nights. Ray Thompkins calling.

Sympathy of the district is extended to relatives and friends of the late Mrs. Julia Hlvoy of Calgary (formerly of Buck Lake) who passed away. Funeral services were held in Wetaskiwin at the Catholic Church.

The Macki cottage on the Buck Lake shore burned down. Cause of the fire is unknown as yet.

Happy birthday to Harold Steeves on October 15th.

The October meeting of the Ladies Friendly Circle Club will be held at the home of Anne Belcourt on Wednesday the 14th at 8 o'clock.

Larry Prefontaine was at home for a while. He is working at Alberta Grocers in Calgary.

George Marshall's mother and dad, Len and Lucille Marshall of Edson spent a few days at Eddie and Mrs. Rivers.

Enjoying the simpler things in life comes much more easily if you happen to be wealthy.

Alberta's Great Moments

Starring the famous players from your lovable Lethbridge label

BOY, WAS I NERVOUS BEFORE MY FIRST HOP!
CONTACT.
I CAN'T LOOK!
I FAINT WHEN I SEE BLOOD!
TELL ME WHEN IT'S OVER.
ONE OF US SHOULD LOOK!
I'M NOT PART OF THE ORIGINAL CAST... THEY GOT ME FROM 'RENT A COW!'
I SURE HOPE THEY HURRY... I'M DOUBLE-PARKED!
CONFIDENTIALLY, I'M NOT SURE MAN WAS EVER MEANT TO FLY!

Historic biplane flight

That crazy cast of characters from the Lethbridge label may take flights of fancy with Alberta's history — but nothing changes that down-to-earth, real beer flavour of Lethbridge Pilsner. It's as much a tradition as our pioneering past. Rugged. Masculine. Frankly old-fashioned and proud of it. And that's the way it has tasted for nearly half a century. So next time call for Lethbridge Pil. Enjoy your own Great Moments with Alberta's original Pilsner.

NOTICE

COYOTE CONTROL AND 1080 PROGRAM

1080 compound is considered to be one of several coyote control methods and its use should be restricted. It is our belief that farmers applying for 1080 bait should be using individual effort as a proof that a problem exits.

Farmers in the western area of this County requesting 1080 baits or objecting to its use should contact the Agricultural Fieldman in writing by October 23rd, 1970.

No 1080 compound to be placed in the easterly area.

Announce Deadline Cattle Import Permits

OTTAWA -- Agriculture Minister H. A. (Bud) Olson announced recently that, in order to ensure consideration, requests for permits for the 1971-72 European cattle importation should be filed with the Department not later than December 31, 1970.

Requests to import cattle in 1971-72 should be filed with the Veterinary Director General, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, from whom application forms can be obtained. Applicants should specify the breed, number of animals desired and country of origin of the cattle.

Following receipt of these application forms, prospective importers will be asked to support their request for a permit by submitting to the Department a statement outlining their proposed breeding program.

Cattle will undergo tests and quarantine on either of the two maximum quarantine stations, one at Grosse Ile, Quebec, and the other on the Island of St. Pierre.

Providing favorable health conditions continue, the 1971-72 importations call for one group to arrive at Grosse Ile in October, 1971, another group to arrive at St. Pierre in November, 1971 and a third group to arrive at the St. Pierre Station in May, 1972.

Fourteen ladies gathered at Flora Porters on Tuesday afternoon for a farewell tea for Mrs. Dalton who will be moving to Stony Plain shortly. The Daltons have lived in this area for quite a few years and will be missed very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Madison from B. C. spent ten days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rob Porter.

Attention Brides

In your pre-wedding planning it would be appreciated if you would arrange for a good black and white photo if you wish to have your wedding picture printed in The Western Review. Good, crisp black and whites are the only photos that guarantee good reproduction.

In the past we have accepted color photos and poor black and whites in an effort to be obliging and the results have often made us regret accepting them. In the future we intend to adhere to a policy of no color photos or poor black and whites.

Education Problems Discussed by P.C.'s

Obviously disturbed, Progressive Conservative Leader Peter Lougheed voiced the frustration of Alberta P.C.'s at an education seminar held by that party in Camrose during the weekend.

"For too long Social Credit has slid away from their failures in the educational field," Mr. Lougheed said.

Positive new alternatives were hammered out by the 150 delegates and resource personnel. Rural and city school problems, kindergartens, driver education, adult education, teacher and trustee problems, curriculum changes and school use highlighted the policy study on education in Alberta

Rising education costs and lack of value received for dollars spent aroused the ire of most delegates.

Mr. Lougheed, contradicting statements made by some research personnel that Albertans are not concerned over rising costs of educations, said that he and his team are keenly aware of the increasing intense concern of the people of this province over sky-rocketing education costs. "Albertans need accountability at all levels. Our goal in the Progressive Conservative Party is full value in return for every educational dollar spent," he emphasized.

The conference stressed need for new emphasis on de-centralization of The Department of Education and the need to reflect local situations in the school program, as well as the importance of elementary education programs. A phased plan for driver education for all graduating teenagers, and a revised curriculum aimed at solving drug abuse problems reveived strong endorsation.

Mr. Zander the P.C. Candidate for Drayton Valley and J. W Tyler attended the conference.

On thursday, October 1st Mr. Lougheed was guest speaker at a P.C. rally in the Drayton Valley Centennial Civic Centre. A good crowd was present for an interesting evening.

Talent Search Starts Season

The Associated Canadian Travellers have announced plans for this year's Search for Talent program with the first show scheduled for Mayerthorpe on Saturday, October 24th, sponsored by the Mayerthorpe Lions Club. One week later, Search for Talent will be presented at Provost under sponsorship of the Knights of Columbus and on November 7th, the Chamber of Commerce brings the show to Viking.

On November 14th, the Evans burg Kinsmen present the show at Evansburg and one week later, it's Boyle, under the auspices of the students of Boyle School. November 28th is Grey Cup Day and the crew will take a rest, but one week later it's on to Ponoka as guests of the Lions Club, followed by Wainwright on December 12, sponsored by the Kinsmen.

In a span of 23 years Search for Talent has raised approximately half of the more than half million dollars the A.C.T. has raised for the Northern Alberta Crippled Children's Fund.

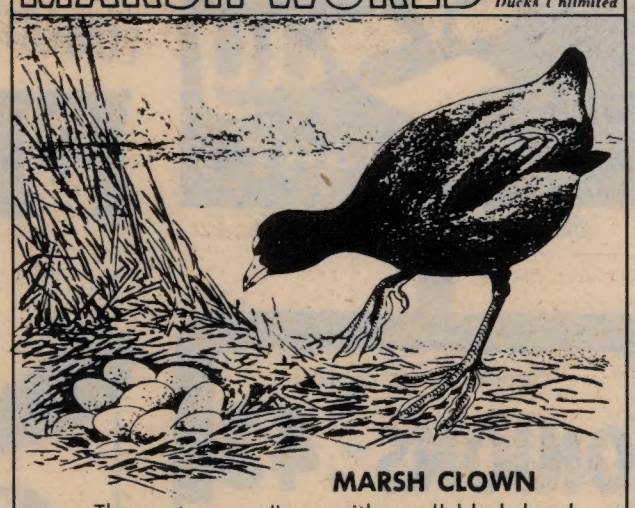
MARSH WORLD

by Angus Shortt
Ducks Unlimited



MARSH CLOWN

The coot or mudhen, with small black head, white chicken-like bill and big clumsy looking feet, is called the "marsh clown". A poor flier, it runs over water flapping frantically, staggers into the air and more often than not flops back into the water. Its toes are lobed, suited to walking among reeds and tangled marsh vegetation. Well built nest, sometimes floats, 8 to 15 speckled eggs are laid.
